

LIBRARY OFFERS ONLINE HOMEWORK HELP

If fractions have you flummoxed, algebra makes you allergic, history has you hysterical, or long division leaves you dazzled, the South Pasadena Public Library can help you with its online tutoring service. Students at every level—from elementary to advanced—can get help with homework, studying, projects, essay writing and test prep in core subjects, including algebra, statistics, chemistry, physics, social studies and English.

The South Pasadena Public Library offers free academic resources and tutoring from Tutor.com. All students in grades K-12 with a library card can use the service to get help with schoolwork.

From any Web-enabled computer in the library or at home, a student can click on the Live Homework Help link on the library's Web site at www.cityofsouthpasadena.us/library and engage in controlled online chat with a math, English, science or social studies expert. Students and tutors can also work on an interactive white board, share educational Web sites and send files back and forth for a rewarding learning exchange. Students can work with an online tutor any day from 3:00 p.m. to 10:00 p.m. In addition, the SkillsCenter Resource Library is a gateway that guides users to websites providing instruction on many school topics. It is available 24/7, and students can search by keyword and subject for worksheets, lessons, videos and more. Students can find resources for specific subjects, standardized tests and college entrance exams. The service supports both Mac and PC platforms.

Tutor.com has thousands of tutors, all of whom are carefully screened experts. They include certified teachers, college professors, graduate students, and selected undergraduates, who have proven their expertise in various subjects. The tutors are based in the U.S. and Canada. Tutor and student work one-to-one in a secure online classroom.

Funded by grants from the Friends of the South Pasadena Public Library and the Library Services and Technology Act, the Live Homework Help from Tutor.com has assisted nearly 4,000 South Pasadena students over the past few years.
